Strategy and Leadership

Quentin Millington has equipped FTSE-100 and other multinational companies to advance strategy, enhance culture, and strengthen leadership.

By combining versatile business, organisation, and people experience he helps companies find sustainable value within the trends that are disrupting industries, brands, and careers.

With thoughtful, relevant ideas Quentin enables senior teams to agree and set out new strategies. He supports departments to build bridges within a culture of well-being and performance. And he mentors executives to develop leadership resilience and capability. Quentin makes sense of complex questions using plain English.

As Chief Operating Officer and in related roles at tier-one investment banks, with budgets over US$100m Quentin led multidiscipline, client-facing teams of up to 130 people. He also ran, across US$1bn businesses of more than 1,000 employees, global initiatives to increase revenue, enhance service, and cut cost.

He has an MPhil in Innovation, Strategy and Organisation from Cambridge, an MSc in International Management from SOAS, London, and a first degree in Oriental Studies Chinese from Oxford. Proficient in Mandarin, Quentin has lived and worked in Hong Kong, New York, and Taipei.

[Quentin] brought with him a vast amount of experience and techniques but was very open and flexible to suggestions and ideas to adapt to the way we work. Always probing, always listening and always thinking, [he] teased out the data we needed, never afraid to ask the difficult questions. Graham Jerome-Ball | Informa

[Quentin] has been exceptional – a perfect blend of knowledgeable, consultative, inspirational, challenging and the ability to give us all a bit of a push when we need it! Moira Brown | Paywizard
